

The Exiles at the Victoria Hall

Colonial Society website.

The website has steadily grown over the past year, with membership numbers up to 30. The website is a great way for members to keep in touch and to hear news from Selkirk and around the world.

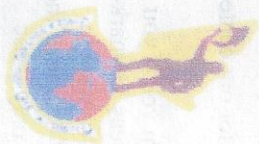

If you are not yet a member of the website and would like to join, you can find it at:

http://uk.groups.yahoo.com/group/selkirk_colonial_society/

Contacts

Gerald Beggs (Secretary)
1 Kingsland Avenue
SELKIRK TD7 4AS
Phone: 1750-725202
E-mail: gebeg1943@aol.com

Christine and Lewis Brydon
(Joint Treasurers)
4 Eildon Lodge Gardens
GALASHIELS

Selkirk Colonial Society

Newsletter

Issue 3

December 2007

Seasons Greetings from Selkirk!

This year returned Exiles brought hands across the seas to join hundreds of local Souters and watch as the giant yellow banner was carried and cast by James Bunyan. In 1923, his grandfather James Johnstone, carried the flag as Colonial Standard Bearer.

Casting the Colours 2007.

Our guest chairman for the evening was Gordon Newlands, son of Jim Newlands, former provost of Selkirk.

The Edinburgh & Lothian Souters Society medallion was presented to the Royal Burgh Standard Bearer, Alasdair Craig, by David Young. The lady pinner was Lena Morrison, whose brother and nephew, David and Keith Williamson, have both cast the Colonial flag. It was a colourful and musical evening as we were entertained by singers, Faye Mackay, Derek Pearce, Falconer Grieve, Fiona Scott accompanied by Dave Mackay on the piano. Louise Mackay performed a wonderful violin medley along with her dad Dave on the piano. Colin Kemp conducted the High School band.

At the bussin concert, Aileen Firth graciously bussed out flag in front of a full house at the Victoria Hall.